The list of cases you need to do, being a student.

1. Get a maximum knowledge about life.

This is generally one of the most important tasks of the student - to receive knowledge. Why did you come to the university then? Being a student, try to know as many things as possible, sides, the faces of our world with you. This will help you better navigate in complex tricks of life situations. Also try to grab the maximum amount of high-quality relevant (related to your future profession) information. Make yourself every day an increasingly competent future employee so that you can come to work and not be lost before the pressure of practical problems.

Remember, only as soon as possible with the theoretical side, you can reduce the "practical shock", i.e. Such a fortune when you just came from a student's bench to a company or for production without having due experience. The experience will come with time, however, having a rich thesaurus (by your own internal "treasure" of the necessary knowledge of your specialty), you will become an "experienced" employee much earlier.

"Experienced" means "respected from your colleagues in future work." Always remember that you have an advantage over them - you know much more about modern trends, "pieces" than your colleagues aged. Competently use this advantage, and your career will quickly go to the mountain.

I hope we clearly showed that the priority task of the student - gaining knowledge is, not so much heavy burden, as many students believe, how much your future competitive advantage.

Even if you do not agree with this point, then you still have not in vain spent your precious time. You still learned a little useful for ourselves, namely 2, probably new for you, concepts - relevant information and thesaurus.:

Read us constantly, and learn many more interesting ducklings that can be "shine" before classmates or friends.:

2. To participate in the maximum possible number of activities conducted by the university or other organizations.

We have already repeatedly wrote about this in their articles:

Institutional holiday - memory for life!

Student Scientific Society - Window in Science.

Therefore, we have included this task in the list of cases, which the young man should make, being a student. Participation in various events held by your university will allow you to gain the necessary experience that is so lacking with young professionals (see paragraph 1)

How is the experience of experience when you participate in events? Yes, very simple! At each new event, you communicate with new people, interact with each other, work in a team. Thus, on grains, you become an increasingly competent person in working with people. And this is the first newspaper to gain experience, in whatever industry you will not work. Even if your future profession is a programmer and you are fully subject to a computer only, you still have a boss, and this is the person with whom you need to interact.

Therefore, when you are offered to take part in events held in the university walls or somewhere else, first, of course, appreciate the situation. If your participation does not harm school or hurts on a minimum scale, i.e. This "harm" can be easily eliminated subsequently, then boldly agree to any adventure. Understand, the world of dates you can prove yourself.

How do you know, maybe, by taking part in a particular contest, you will notice any rich virtue that will later help you help in the device to work. You will show your talent, and this person specially came to pick up for his company future promising personnel ... And suddenly you spoke brilliantly with our project ... This person comes to you and says: "We would not want to go with us ..."
Everything. You have done your name, you noticed you on horseback.

And if you almost never participate in contests, you will never say such words. And do not think that this is fantastic, it is a very real situation, especially in large cities. Now many large and not very companies, therefore, choose young qualified personnel. Therefore, do not miss your chance, be active, being a student, and participate in the maximum possible number of different events.

3. Curve everything that you can.

You are young, you are full of strength. Therefore, use any opportunity and go on a trip! Travel is always memories, but only memories remain with us for life (knowledge is also, in turn, the variety of memories "Yes, I remember, we passed it in the university ..."). Therefore, do not sit constantly at home at a computer, better go on a trip. We do not suggest you fly for thirty lands in search of unforgettable impressions. For the seed, you can travel all nearby sights.

Take a rule to go on a journey at least once every 3-4 months. Going a few times, you will feel that you can no longer sit at home. You will not be not up to the computer with the Internet ...
In Russia, pushing out of our weather conditions, it is best to travel in the summer. Moreover, students in the summer quite a long holiday vacation, which can be not bad for traveling just the same journey.

Of course, a certain amount of money is required for any journey. Therefore, we advise you to read the following article:

4. Meet your loved one.

Student time is the best time to find your soul mate. Some people even decrypt the abbreviation of the university as "getting married." Well, married, not marry, and to get a loved one is best, being a student.

Why do we believe that student years are best suited for this?

Because at school about such things as a favorite person and love, in most cases, simply do not think. There are very different incentives to meet - it's fashion, coolness, adulthood. Schoolchildren often do not realize all the responsibility they take on, playing adult games.

While you will be a young specialist, i.e. After graduating from the university, your head will be clogged with completely different thoughts, namely thoughts about work, about promotion. And if you do not have a loved one for that time, you will need to chase at the same time as two hares ... the result is known to everyone.

Therefore, it is in student times, being a student, try to meet your soul mate. With her, you will travel and travel, and help each other to learn and there further ... Well, you understood us :) Read the books together, naturally, and what did you think ???)

5. Make a plan of the future life.

In fact, this item had to be put under zero number, because the plan should always precede your actions. However, here we tell you exactly about the action plan, after graduating from the highest educational institution. After you graduated from the university, you will be the ocean - from opportunities, difficulties, success and failures. In order not to get lost on the wide expanses of this ocean, you should always have a map (plan) where you want to sail in the end.

Best of all, of course, that you have a plan already during student years. The trouble is that such a plan you needed to make up, still, being a schoolboy. And it is not correct to do this for many adults, and not that high school students.

When you are a student, you already have certain knowledge, skills, skills that will allow you to compile a competent plan of your actions after the end of the university. Remember once and forever:

This will allow you to avoid most of the problems that you may encounter. And in our rhythmic modern time - the time of constant crises, disasters and other negative phenomena, the advance reduction in dangers is the first step towards a happy life. Treat planning as an integral part of any activity. In other words, always be managers! :) managers of your life ...

Here is a list of 5 mandatory cases that should be implemented by young people, being students, was submitted to the court. If you can add it your arguments, then write your comments in the
